BOLSTERING DEFENCE IN LONDON AREA

London County Council Leader Appeals for Thousands of Volunteers

WORKING HARD TO REPAIR WEAKNESS

LONDON, Oct. 7 (CP-Havas).—Herbert L. Morrison, leader of the London County Council, tonight appealed for thousands of defence volunteers in the London area as efforts to bolster the national defence system gained momentum.

In a meeting of the County Council devoted to study of a report drafted by the London defence sub-committee, Mr. Morrison, who heads the sub-committee and is a Labor front bench member in Parliament, deplored that the number of auxiliary firefighters still was far under the required 30,000.

NOT GRUMBING

"I do not want the people of London to think I am grumbling, but I do want them to know that the emergency is a happy one to answer the call," he said. "We would thus more confidently face the future. Let us have 5,000 women ambulance drivers and the men we need for the auxiliary fire services so we can be ready for any possible future emergency that may arise."

All defence services have been ordered to prepare immediately reports on weaknesses revealed during the recent crisis, and to suggest remedies.

During the vacation of Prime Minister Chamberlain, this work will be pushed by the Imperial defence committee and a ministerial committee, including Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Co-ordination of Defence; War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha and Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood.

WILL EXAMINE B.C. MOTORISTS

Provincial Driving Tests Due To Commence Some Time During November

Drivers' tests in Victoria and Lower Mainland centres will commence under the direction of the Provincial Police during November. Inspector James Hood, chief of the motor license branch of the service, said yesterday.

"We will make a start as soon as we can train staffs in the method of testing and have the necessary accommodation. The equipment is already on hand, and it is just a question of time now. We expect to start actual testing of drivers some time during November," Inspector Hood said.

PROVIDING BUILDINGS

Meanwhile, the Provincial Works Department was rushing to completion plans for providing accommodation at Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria. In Vancouver a new police block is being built at New Westminster, the Pals Building is shortly to be demolished. Here, the old drill hall on Menzies Street will be used, after some alterations.

The examination of drivers will be carried out by specially trained staffs at each point. After the plan is placed in operation, travelling testing stations will be sent through outlying areas of the province.

Fees to be paid by motorists for the examinations have not yet been set, but are expected to be nominal. The cost of the service as a whole were placed in current Provincial estimates at $80,000, to be recovered by fees from motorists.

Most Rev. J. A. Richardson, Noted Anglican Prelate, Passes at Fredericton

FREDERICTON, Oct. 7 (CP).—Most Rev. J. A. Richardson, Anglican Archbishop of Fredericton and Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada, died late today.

The sixty-nine-year-old cleric, at the age of thirty-eight the youngest churchman in the British Empire to attain the rank of bishop, was Richardson's first archbishop of his denomination. He was enthroned, archbishop and Metropolitan, in 1934.

Archbishop Richardson, whose province embraces the Dioceses of Nova Scotia, Fredericton, Quebec and Montreal, had been Bishop of Fredericton since 1907. He became Metropolitan on the death of Most Rev. C. L. Worrell, Archbishop of Nova Scotia who also was Primate of All-Canada.

He was born at Warwick, England, and after his early education at Warwick Grammar School went to Western Canada and engaged in Anglican church work. Resuming his studies at the University of Manitoba, he graduated with the degree of bachelor of arts in 1885, was ordained deacon and raised to the priesthood the same year. In 1892 he obtained a master of arts degree.

In 1897 he became first rector of St. Luke's Church, Fort Rouge, Winnipeg. A year later, at the age of thirty, he was called to historic Trinity Church, Saint John, N.B., where he remained until appointment as coadjutor bishop.

Bonnet, addressing the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, was asked by Senator Charles Reibel whether such action was contemplated.

He limited his reply to the statement "The Government had not yet studied" the question of sending an envoy to Burgos, but he did not deny the Cabinet envisaged such an appointment.

Two Major Victories Bring Japanese Near Defences of Hankow

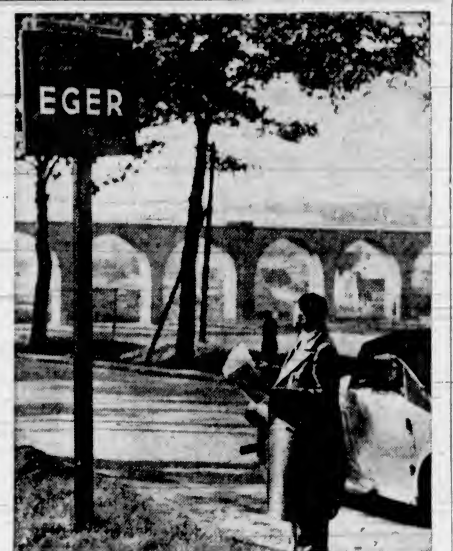

Reinforcing Offensive in Attempt to Penetrate—Severance Reported of Peiping-Hankow Railway and Outflanking of Chinese Bulwark

SHANGHAI, Oct. 8 (CP).—The Japanese command today announced reinforced offensive to attempt to crack Hankow's outlying defences and communications under the impetus of two major victories on the wide Hankow front.

Japanese reported the victories yesterday as follows:

1. Severance of the Peiping-Hankow Railway at Liuling, about ninety miles north of Hankow.
  2. The outflanking of Teian, bulwark of the Chinese defence of the Kuikiang-Nanchang Railway, about 130 miles north, southeast of Hankow.
- The spokesman said the flanking force severed the Kuikiang-Nanchang line at Yungchi and captured that town, sixteen miles south of Teian. At Yungchi the Japanese were halfway along the ninety-mile railway between Kuikiang and Nanchang.
- Japanese tactics to follow up the Liuling and Yungchi operations were believed to call first for widening the wedge driven into the Peiping-Hankow Railway for attacks northward.

Italian Chamber Making Way for All Fascist Body

Present Lower House Will Cease to Exist After Current Session—Representatives of Fascist Party Only Will Compose New House—British Diplomatic Parleys Continue

ROME, Oct. 8 (CP).—The Fascist Grand Council early today decreed abolition of the Italian Chamber of Deputies and establishment in its place of a new Chamber of Fasces and Guilds.

In a step long promised by Premier Mussolini, the Chamber of Deputies, already shorn of almost all power, will cease to exist at the end of its present session.

Henceforth legislation will be enacted by the Senate and a new Lower House composed of representatives of Fascist party units—each unit known as a Fascio—and of the guilds and corporations into which commerce, labor, industry and the professions have been united by the totalitarian regime.

The Fascist party and guild representatives are to be composed of the members of their two national councils.

Il Duce and the Fascist Grand Council, which ended a midnight session on Oct. 7, will meet again tomorrow.

DEMANDS BRING PLANT CLOSURE

Automobile Workers Stage Demonstration for Thirty-Two-Hour Week

DETROIT, Oct. 7 (CP).—The CIO United Automobile Workers' demand for a thirty-two-hour week in the automobile industry resulted today in shutdown of two large plants here, throwing approximately 15,000 men into idleness.

The main plant of the Plymouth Motor Corporation, a Chrysler division, closed when more than 3,000 men refused to report for the day shift. The men massed around the plant gates, joining nearly 3,000 night-shift workers in what police said was a peaceful demonstration.

TO TAKE STRIKE VOTE

In Flint, Mich., Jack Little, president of UAW Local 156, said a strike vote probably would be taken on Saturday in the Buick division of General Motors. The thirty-two-hour week was one of several demands.

Union officials said the Plymouth demonstration was not a strike, and the men would return to work Monday. They said, however, the men would not work more than thirty-two hours during the week.

INDIA RULES OWN COUNTRY

Sir Feroz Khan Noon, High Commissioner, Says System Working Well

"England has nothing to be ashamed of. She has handed over a trust to the people of India that she might well be proud of. The Englishman has given us an administration, financially sound with departments so well organized that we were able to start the machinery working with the greatest ease." So stated Hon. Malik Sir Feroz Khan Noon, K.C.I.E., M.A. (Oxon.), High Commissioner for India in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, in an address on "Britain and the Indian Empire" at the Empress Hotel here, last night.

The hotel ballroom was filled to capacity, and the address was given under the auspices of the National Council of Education with Albert Sullivan, of the Provincial Department of Education, as the chairman. Thanks on behalf of the audience were expressed by Sir Robert Holland at the conclusion of the lecture.

HAD CO-OPERATION

Sir Feroz Khan said that if England had ruled India for eighty years, it was not without the co-operation and assistance of its people. "Had my people been opposed to it, it would have been impossible for Great Britain to have ruled for even one year." He was replying to criticisms of British rule in India.

He said there was widespread impression that the relationship of Britain with India deserved nothing but criticism. "There is no government in the world that is not open to criticism, and the British Government could be criticized for things done and things undone; but on the whole British rule has not been resented. While we are criticizing, we should also say a word of appreciation of what India has achieved through British co-operation," the speaker maintained.

Sir Feroz Khan remarked that eighty years—it was in 1858 Great Britain took over administration in India—was a very small period, and

Prague Makes Concessions To Hungary on Eve of Minority Negotiations

BUDAPEST, Oct. 7 (CP).—The Hungarian Foreign Office announced tonight that negotiations for settlement of Hungary's territorial and minority claims against Czechoslovakia would start on Sunday at Komarom, on the Hungarian-Czechoslovak border.

Officials of the Czechoslovak legation said the Prague delegation would be headed by Dr. Joseph Tiso, Prime Minister of newly autonomous Slovakia. Hungary's claims affected primarily the Slovak part of the diminished republic.

GRANTS CONCESSIONS

It was believed in diplomatic circles Prague already had granted certain concessions to Hungary whereby Hungarian forces would occupy two border towns "symbolically" before negotiations start at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The Hungarian delegation will be headed by Foreign Minister Kallmayer, and Interior Minister Count Paul Teleky.

The word which opened the way for the conference was said to have come from Prague as the Hungarian Cabinet Council discussed ultimatum measures to be taken if Prague delayed the talks further. The conversations were to have started yesterday after one postponement.

Diplomatic quarters said the Cabinet Council would have demanded unconditional return of the Prague delegation.

Commission Ready With Suggestion

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Palestine Commission, headed by Sir John Woodhead, tonight was reported, according to Havas News Agency, almost ready to suggest to the British Government its solution of the thorny problem which has led to terrorism in the Holy Land during the past two years.

Despite official silence, it was said, some persons close to the commission believed its new plan would recommend transformation of Palestine into an autonomous state with its foreign policy linked to Great Britain under a treaty similar to the Anglo-Iraq pact.

Mr. Eden was unstinting in his praise of the Prime Minister. "Whatever our political views, there is not one of us who does not feel the deepest gratitude to the Prime Minister for his untiring personal efforts these last few weeks," he said. "We would each one of us sincerely wish him an undisturbed and refreshing holiday from the well-earned inalterable strain he has bravely borne."

The President made it clear that he considered military and naval spying as a question entirely separate from foreign efforts to disseminate propaganda in this country.

Women's Institute Conference Closes With New Officers

Mrs. J. L. White Succeeds Mrs. William Peden as President of South Vancouver Island District—English Institute Visitor Speaks

MRS. J. L. White, Victoria, was yesterday elected president of the South Vancouver Island District Women's Institute, to succeed Mrs. William Peden, who has held the office for the past year.

Election of the new executive was the last business of the final session of the ninth annual district conference yesterday afternoon, the results being as follows: President, Mrs. J. L. White, Victoria; vice-president, Mrs. A. H. Chambers, Cedar; secretary, Mrs. Webster, Lake Hill; directors, Mrs. T. O. Robson, of Vimy, and Mrs. William Peden, Victoria.

Apart from the address by the guest-speaker, Miss H. C. Denke, of England, the final session was occupied with discussions on legislation, community betterment, home industries and public health, the report of the Otho Scott Fund, given by Miss Hilda Leighton; the financial statement, and the usual votes of thanks.

ENGLAND'S WOMEN

A very sympathetic and intimate picture of what is being done by the Women's Institutes in England was given by Miss Denke, who is county secretary of the Oxfordshire Women's Institute, and president of the Institute at Ebbw Vale. Of special interest was her account of the simultaneous celebration just recently by institutes all over England, of the organization's coming-of-age, it being twenty-one years since the movement, born in Canada several years previously, was carried to the Old Land. A broadcast message from the two leaders, Miss Haddow and Lady Denman, was part of the programme to which all members listened as they had tea, all parts of the country "tuning in." Miss Haddow had given the history of the movement, acknowledging its Canadian origin, and indicating the opportunities which it offered women to work along common lines for the good of all, and in every country, and Lady Denman had emphasized the need for keeping in mind some definite programme which would prevent the movement from becoming merely an opportunity for friendly social meeting.

Working from the common basis of co-operation and good will through their institutes were really the only way to appraise the achievements in that time was by comparison with other countries. "Today we have a constitution that gives us the same status within the Empire as Canada. In the self-governed states all administration was handed over to ministers elected by the people, and who enjoy the fullest control over their departments the same as any other country in the world," he added. "Every Government in the Punjab is serving as constitutionally as the King of England."

INDIA RULES OWN COUNTRY

There were three exceptions in Federal constitution that turn over all departments to the people. Those departmental exceptions he cited as the department of trade, department of foreign policy and the army, the latter being for all India. "Let those critics of British rule give me one example in the East where similar democratic government exists today. When history is written it will give credit to Great Britain for her policy of training the people of India in the art of self-government," he said.

THE CIVIL SERVICE

Sir Pirokhan described the operation of the Indian Civil Service, and declared it an "honest and fair administration." He had been ten years in the ministry, and during that time had not been acquainted with one act of dishonesty or unfairness. He said: "If a country wants an honest administration, it must pay high salaries."

The speaker discussed the educational system which, he stated, was based entirely on the British plan and had made tremendous advances in recent years. Social services he described as the best in the world. Not one place in the Punjab was possible to be more than ten miles distant from a rural hospital where a person could enter, receive treatment for days or months, and walk out cured without paying one cent.

The system of taxation, Sir Pirokhan said, was on land revenue and on the premise that the state was a shareholder in the land. The Administration took a share of the revenue of the landlord and not the tenant. "No one seems to mind that because the tax is only the taking of a part of the revenue of the owner," he dealt briefly with agriculture and minerals, which he stated belonged to the state.

EFFICIENT RAILWAYS

"Our rail-ways," he continued, "are very efficient, and nowhere in India will you find your mistake of having two systems competing one with the other. Eighty per cent of the railways are state-owned." The country was not being exploited and was one of the most socialistic in the world.

Industrial development, with British co-operation, had been rapid. He instanced the potential market as one of 400,000,000 subjects by 1941. It was a market that no country could afford to ignore and the Inter-Empire trade had been enormously increased by the Ottawa trade agreements. The credit of India was exceptionally high because of the realization of the sanctity of contract, the high regard for law and the efficiency and fairness in the courts of justice, inherited from British practice.

ANCIENT CIVILIZATION

Sir Pirokhan humorously remarked that many people were under the impression that the people of India for the most part were about the country eating berries from the trees. "That is not so, but

In addition to the competitive sections, many beautiful displays of flowers for exhibition only will be made at the show. Competition will be very keen at this year's show, and it is expected that by the time the doors are opened to the public, all display benches will be filled.

Among the larger displays will be chrysanthemums from the gardens of S. W. Raven, David Snobelen, Mrs. Philpott and R. Rowan. Michaelmas daisies will be shown by Mrs. J. A. Hibberson and the Victoria School Board. There will also be dahlias from the gardens of the Empress Hotel and locally-grown bulbs from the Saanich Bulb Growers' Association.

OBSTRUCTION IS CAUSE OF CHARGE

Arnold Cain Found Guilty of Preventing Policeman from Carrying Out Duty

Magistrate Henry C. Hall found Arnold Cain guilty in the city police court yesterday morning of a charge of unlawfully and wilfully obstructing a police officer in carrying out his duties. A suspended sentence was imposed.

In imposing sentence, the magistrate added:

"I am satisfied that you and a group of men were making too much noise, and that you did not move on in the manner you should have. This is a test case. The proper orders of policemen in the execution of their duties must be obeyed. If there is any repetition of this offence, by you or any other person, leniency will not be extended."

Constable Samuel McKernan, who said Cain and several other men were asked to keep quiet and move on when he encountered them on Johnson Street, near Broad Street, early on the morning of October 2. A few minutes later he told Cain again to move, but the accused refused, so he was forced to telephone for the police patrol.

Cain denied refusing to move when asked by the constable, nor did he hear the officer repeat the order. He claimed he stopped to give a cigarette to a man when encountered by the police patrol.

PLANS STUDENT CAMP AT BANFF

Overseas Education League Organizer Announces New Proposal for Youth

Major Fred J. Ney, honorary organizer of the Overseas Education League, who is here with Sir Pirokhan Noon, announced at the meeting in the Empress Hotel last night that it was proposed to establish a student camp at Banff.

"We have sufficient confidence in ourselves to say now that the camp will be established and, further, that it will be known as the 'Chamberlain Student Group,' and that every possible means will be taken to persuade him to come to Canada to open it personally," said Major Ney.

"Such a camp would consist of a number of buildings, responsibility for some of which might conceivably be assumed by individual donors, after whom such buildings would be known. Cubicles could be furnished by others, and by many organizations, but let us ask for the co-operation of everyone so that all may feel they have a share in this new venture on behalf of youth as an expression of universal gratitude for the peace that we still enjoy," Major Ney explained.

throwing incident which occurred at Jagerndorf, in the fourth zone of military occupation. Medical attention was not needed for the scratches on his face.

Tomorrow, Hitler will end his Sudetenland visit and on Sunday he will open a new theatre in Saarbrücken, in the Saar Valley.

Government circles said he may make an "important pronouncement" on French-German relations.

In a brief talk today in the Jagerndorf Market Place, Hitler declared that, when the rest of Sudetenland stood under the swastika on October 10, the territory would be for ever free and irrevocably a reichsgau (district) of the German nation.

TECHNICAL PROBLEMS

The economic sub-committee of the International Commission, set under the Munich Accord, today tackled a number of technical problems dealing with the transfer of Czechoslovak holdings on what is known as German territory, reparations for damages and other economic questions.

It was learned reliably one question it was trying to settle was the disposition of the reserve raw materials, such as cotton and wool, which various Czechoslovak industrial concerns possessed.

It was said the Germans would like to take these raw goods at once into their own hands, and to use self-sufficiency, but Czechoslovakia insisted the materials were the property of Czechoslovak industrialists who should have the right to remove them.

CUSTOMS UNION

In Foreign Office quarters an eventual customs union between the nations was believed a certainty.

They called attention to Economics Minister Funk's trip into Southeastern Europe, and what they described as the growing realization among such countries as Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Turkey and Bulgaria that they would have to slip into the German economic orbit now more than ever.

They said this feeling first grew with the union of Germany and Austria last March 13. Now, with Sudetenland added to Germany, the nation's influence in the Danube Valley had become all the more emphatic.

The successful outcome of trade negotiations with Turkey was pointed to as a concrete sign of a swing toward Germany in South-eastern Europe.

A reliable Nazi spokesman said the German Government realized Czechoslovakia must put herself on a good neighborly footing with Germany and suggested one certain step in this direction would be the closest kind of economic tie-up.

DEATH CLAIMS J. H. GRIFFITH

Founder of Vancouver Financial Business Was Also Prominent in Scouting

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7 (P)—Julius Henry Griffith, founder of a Vancouver financial business, which bore his name, and one-time British Columbia commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association, died in hospital here last night after an illness which lasted all Summer. He was seventy-two.

From a humble beginning in a London, England, office, fifty-five years ago, Mr. Griffith came to Canada in 1908 and established the firm of Griffith & Lee, Ltd. He had recently retired.

Five years ago he was presented with the "Silver Wolf" badge and ribbon by the Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, then Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, in recognition of his services to Scouting.

He was active in Vancouver civic affairs, being a member of the board of the Alexandra Orphanage, member of the Vancouver Canadian Club executive, member of the Board of Trade and honorary treasurer of the Vancouver Symphony Society. He had been a member of the Union Club, Victoria Union Building Thursday evening.

Surviving are his wife and one son, Julius, of Vancouver; two sisters and a brother in England. The funeral will be held Saturday.

PLANS MADE FOR TAG DAY APPEAL

Drive to Be Launched Today for Funds to Send Ambulance to China

Final plans for the holding of a tag day today were completed at the meeting of the Canadian Friends of the Chinese People, held at the Business and Professional Women's Club in the Union Building Thursday evening.

Plans were also formulated to bring Miss Soo Yong, who played the part of the aunt and of the "Great One" in the movie version of "The Good Earth," to Victoria early in November. Arrangements to this end were left in the hands of Mr. Archie MacCorkindale, of the Progressive Arts Theatre group.

Miss Yong has received the highest acclaim throughout the United States and Canada, and her visit promises to be an outstanding event of the Winter season.

Proceeds from the tag day and from the entertainment of Miss Soo Yong will be used to augment the funds being raised by the Canadian Friends of the Chinese People to purchase a "made-in-Canada" motor ambulance to be sent to China as the gift of those Victorians who wish to express in tangible form their sympathy with a brave and unhappy people.

The Foreign Office announcement tended to quiet the public clamor that the Government "do as the Poles and Germans did." Led by Germany, Poland has exacted a territorial settlement from Czechoslovakia.

Hungary had made military preparations for occupation. Troops had been waiting since Wednesday for orders to cross the border and occupy some 4,000 square miles.

NEAR RAILWAY

HANKOW, Oct. 7 (P)—Official Chinese communiques tonight said Japanese forces were within ten miles of the Hankow-Peking Railway, 100 miles north of Hankow, and within fifty miles of the Canton-Hankow line, sixty miles south of this military capital.

Reliable sources reported Japanese artillery already had dropped shells on the Peking-Hankow road, breaking Hankow's rail connection with Northwest China.

The Japanese were said not to have made any new gains along the Yangtze River approach to Hankow but there were reports that two fresh Japanese divisions were moving up to strengthen Yangtze forces depleted by recent fighting.

IRISH "MINORITY"

The settlement of the Sudeten question was bound to have its repercussion in Ireland. Mr. de Valera taken in the six Northern counties to determine how much or how little of that area wants to be included in Eire. There is no suggestion of a plebiscite in Eire to determine how many of the Irishmen there would prefer to be under the Government of Northern Ireland. Mr. de Valera says that Ireland cannot be left out of any general settlement of the minority problem of Europe, which is probably true enough if self-determination, which in the long run amounts to individual determination, is carried to its logical issue. It is obvious, however, that if there is to be political security there must be certain limits to the rights of self-determination or there will be a constant flux in the authority and duties of governments.

In the case of Northern Ireland, it is doubtful if Great Britain would intervene, for decision regarding a plebiscite would be a matter for the Government at Belfast. It is to that Government that Mr. de Valera should have preferred his request. Mr. de Valera, through a policy he has fostered, has been engaged in the task of peaceful penetration of Ulster. He believes, too, that the new constitution devised for Ireland as a whole, but framed without consulting Belfast, contains a new appeal for national unity. Officially, however, it has brought about no change in the relations between the former Free State and Ulster. The latter is as determined as ever to remain outside the aegis of Dublin. It is wholly improbable that Lord Craigavon will agree to a plebiscite on the lines suggested by the Prime Minister of Eire, for that would lead to partition, if only on a small scale, of what now constitutes Northern Ireland for political purposes. Doubtless, however, the subject will be kept alive and accentuate the rift in political opinion in the country.

VITAL STATISTICS

No organization more than the medical profession realizes how much remains to be done to promote public health. Statistics of mortality never make pleasant reading, yet it is only upon these that a conclusion can be reached about the efforts desirable to mitigate the hazards to health. The vital statistics for the Dominion for 1937 show that in that year there were 16,831 deaths from heart disease, 11,961 from cancer, 9,603 from arterial maladies, 7,725 from pneumonia, 6,550 from tuberculosis, 6,527 from kidney diseases and 5,254 from influenza.

In each of the foregoing causes of death there is, with one exception, an increase shown in the number of victims, and in some cases it is so great that it cannot be explained by the increase that has taken place in population. The exception is tuberculosis. The death rate in this has dropped 19 per cent in the last decade. Arterial troubles, however, led to the death of 88 per cent more people in the last decade than in the preceding ten years; influenza caused 58 per cent more fatalities; cancer, 51 per cent more; diseases of the heart, 42 per cent more; kidney maladies, 24 per cent increase, and pneumonia, 2 per cent more.

There is a more cheerful side of the picture where diseases particularly affecting children are concerned. In the case of diphtheria ten years ago there were 1,012 deaths from the disease; the next five-year average was 838, and last year the total was 369. The victims of scarlet fever have dropped from an average of 369 to 268 fatal cases, and those of whooping cough from 845 to 762. Diseases of early infancy show a decrease of 2,617 cases compared with the total for 1927, and maternity mortality is down from 1,300 to 1,067. In the case of measles, however, the death record for 1937 was 819, as compared with 452 in 1927.

Vital statistics are a main evidence of the progress being made in the health of a nation. No organization examines them more closely than the medical profession, and it is that body of men that is in the best position to denote the reasons why, in connection with any particular disease, there is progress or retrogression in treatment. The vital statistics of Canada tell their own story, though it must be admitted that to point the moral it would be necessary to examine them as well in comparison with the vital statistics of other countries having somewhat similar climatic conditions.

CAPSULE FOR FUTURITY

Beneath the ground where the World's Fair is to be held at New York, a copper capsule has been deposited with an injunction to posterity that it is not to be unearthed and opened until September 23, 6,938, that is, 5,000 years hence. This is imposing a strain on the curiosity of generations yet to be, and the certainty is that the injunction will not be respected. There is something amusing in the "messages" contained in the capsule. One of them is from Professor Einstein, who tells futurity that the present time is rich in inventive minds, but that the production and consumption of commodities is entirely unorganized. He hopes that posterity will read this statement "with a feeling of proud and justified superiority."

Dr. Thomas Mann has given his contribution to the capsule. He tells prospective readers of 5,000 years to come that with them, as in the present age, "the spirit will fare badly." And that to "Brothers of the future we send our greeting." These messages, of course, will only possess an archaeological interest to the dwellers on earth in 6,938. What would be of greater interest still would be replicas of present-day inventions, which would be all out of date in 5,000 years. As to what people have to say in this era, if it has been really worth saying, it will live on in literature without the necessity of being enshrined in a capsule. The capsule will require no archaeological research to lead to its discovery, unless, indeed, the instructions are lost. It is located in latitude 40 degrees, 14 minutes, 34.089 seconds north, and longitude 73 degrees, 50 minutes, 43.842 seconds, which its proud sponsors say make it possible to locate a spot on the earth's surface as small as a 25 cent piece. The difficulty is that there may be no measurements by longitude and latitude 5,000 years hence, and the documents duplicating the instructions may be dissipated in dust.

LEGISLATIVE RESPONSIBILITY

The forthcoming session of the Provincial Legislature will be asked to ratify the handing over to the Federal Government, lock, stock and barrel, and without any quid pro quo, of the old New Westminster railway and highway traffic bridge. The value of the bridge is set anywhere from $750,000 to $1,500,000. The Dominion Government, when it comes into possession of it, will hand it over to the Canadian National Railways. This bridge filled public needs, but a new structure at a cost of $4,000,000 was built by the Provincial Government without any agreement reached for the Dominion Government to pay part of the cost. The burden has fallen entirely on the taxpayers of this Province, and now the old bridge, the possession of those taxpayers, is to be given to the Dominion. In this particular, Ottawa should give value for value received. The Legislature has a responsibility to the taxpayers who are now groaning under Provincial imposts, and who see so much of their money disappearing under a policy of spendthrift zeal.

The New York Herald-Tribune, perhaps in sarcastic vein, says that the "Who's Who in America" is now giving a more liberal interpretation of just what makes a man important in American life. It used to be a trifle exclusive in dealing with its "personalities." Now it is becoming all-embracing. In the recently-published volume Fred Astaire is included; so are Clifford Odets and Edgar Bergen and W. C. Fields, and Miss Carole Lombard. There is, too, on the roster of the great and near great, the name of Mr. James J. Tunney, ex-pugilist and now a businessman, and reputed also to be a philosopher. Public appreciation of these characters has forced their inclusion in "Who's Who."

An explanation of the attitude of Portugal in the present Spanish Civil War is put forward by Major Eric Wakeham in The Nineteenth Century. He says that early in the present Spanish conflict, and even before it, the Spanish Left Wing Extremists "announced their intention of forcing Portugal willy-nilly into a federation of Iberian Socialist States." The reaction of Portugal was "wholehearted moral support of General Franco." That attitude has been maintained, and in the frankest possible way, the Government of General Franco has been recognized by Portugal as the Government of Spain.

A brief news item says: "There are 250 former relief recipients in Toronto who now have jobs and, as regular as clockwork, come back each week to the Public Welfare district offices to repay by small installments every cent of the money which the city had put up to help them in less fortunate days." These workers feel that they have arrears of self-respect to overtake.

Perseverance and tact are the two great qualities most valuable for all men who would mount, but especially for those who have to step out of the crowd.

—Earl of Beaconsfield.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

In my heart of hearts, I do not believe this age will produce much that will become recognized as literature. Life is too hurried, reflection too rare, and the typewriter—as the machine of production too swift and facile for the good of those who would write to be remembered. It used not to be so. Some of the world's finest literature was written painfully, one word at a time, by means of a scratchy quill pen and on the crusty scraps of paper. Some masterpieces took seven or more years to produce, and must literally have been rewritten hundreds of times. Some writers flowed early, reached a brilliant production in full bloom, and had their careers cut off by death before they had scarcely found their stride. Others ripened late, slowly and painfully weeding out the dross from the gold, and leaving the world perhaps a single gem for the labor of seventy-five years. John Milton dictated parts of his epic work, not alone after he was blind, but after he had fought and conquered the unrest of a fiery soul against that most dreadful of all afflictions. Read their works, young and old, and you will find the evidence of closely studied care. Much has happened since. The search for the one right word lapsed with the era of style and precision. Man, in a hurry, has not been able to dig down into himself for those lasting truths which all may recognize. Rhythm and flow have passed into the keeping of poets, where once it was the hallmark of good prose. Beyond all, thought, by comparison at least with even fifty years ago, seems to have become shallow, and incapable of finding the roots of anything. The typewriter, has speeded up the machinery of commerce, but what it has cost literature and art I may never know. For myself, I prefer to go back one, two and even three hundred years to search the minds of those who labored patiently, and alone. It was a full, rich message they left, one selected word at a time.

It hurts to be wrong. A few days ago this column was crowing about the visibility in Victoria, and here today is a fog that envelops all the sky, with its changing pictures, is shut off as completely as if someone had wrapped a great white sheet around the world. Autumn and winter have succeeded in the mist, leaving a distorted dwelling and a miasma that represents what looks like the ruins of civilization. The sea, too, has gone, and a clammy white vapor rolls on itself in dreary, soundless, spirals. Through the mist, the footprints of a lone old blind man, for the company of his own grief walk. Above, below, and all around the fog has hemmed us in, like prisoners who are to be slowly chilled to death, unheard. Did I say there was visibility in Victoria? If so, I take it back. Today we can scarcely see two hands before our faces. By night it will be worse. The street lights will burn with a leaden conscience, dispiritedly aware that their feeble rays will not reach even to the opposite curb. Motorists will see the headlights of the footprints of a lone old blind man, for the company of his own grief walk. # PERSONAL ITEMS and SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Miss Muriel Thomson Marries Mr. R.A. Gale

Rev. T. G. Griffiths officiated at a pretty wedding last night, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Cedar Hill Road, when Muriel Eileen, second daughter of Captain and Mrs. Thomas Thomson, became the bride of Mr. Robert Arnold Gale, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gale, 1345 Harrison Street. Miss Marjorie Margison played the wedding marches.

During the ceremony the bride stood before a window between tall silver baskets filled with pink and the new blue gladioli, pink mauve and blue Michaelmas daisies.

flanked by standard candelabra holding tall lighted ivory tapers. Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a fitted dress of white tulle with a short-sleeved bolero trimmed with stiff pleating. Her hip-length veil was arranged in cap shape and was held in place at the back of her neck with gardenias and bouvardia. She carried an arm bouquet of pale pink roses, pink carnations, white heather and white snapdragons.

THE ATTENDANTS
The bride's sister, Mrs. Bruce Low, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Betty Gale, were the attendants in charming frocks of romance rose tulle with very full skirts and pleated boleros. They wore clusters of pink carnations and blue chrysanthemums in their hair and held sheaves of blue chrysanthemums and pink gladioli. Mr. Ronald Kitchener was best man.

Mrs. Thomson welcomed the guests in a frock of yellow flowered nylon, with a black hat and corsage bouquet of Tallismania roses, assisted by the bridegroom's mother in a gown of blue floral sheer, who wore blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and violets.

AT THE RECEPTION
A hand-made lace cloth covered the table for supper which was served after the service, and was decorated with vases of small white carnations and white tapers in silver candelabra. The bride's cake stood

Visits Canadian Institutes

MISS H. C. DENEKE

County secretary of the Oxfordshire Women's Institutes, and President of the Elsie Institute, has been an honored guest of the ninth annual conference of the South Vancouver Island District W.I. during its sessions here this week. Yesterday afternoon, at the final session, she gave a delightful talk in which she related the history of the organization which twenty-one years ago spread from Canada to England, and now has its local branches in practically all the rural districts of the Old Land. Miss Deneke is starting almost immediately for Eastern Canada, and will be the guest of Lady Tweedsmuir at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, for awhile before she sails for England.

Fashions of Long Ago Are Seen at Tea

The Royal Oak Hall presented a very charming old-world picture on Wednesday afternoon on the occasion of a Victorian silver tea convened by the handcraft committee of the Royal Oak Women's Institute.

Michaelmas daisies, crimson and orange dahlias and Autumn foliage decorated the windows and flanked the stage, which was arranged as a Victorian parlor. Here a loan collection of shawls in embroidered silks and cashmere, beaded fire-screens and wool samplers, objects d'art hung on the walls, and a large portrait of the Queen Empress herself dominated the stage.

Victorian parlor music was rendered by Mrs. McIntosh, Mrs. C. Oldfield and Mrs. Booth, who sang old favorites, accompanied by Mrs. A. P. Hobbs on the violin and Mrs. K. Mead-Robins on the piano.

Taylor, 1355 Carnes Street, last evening, when she entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Helen Marsh, whose marriage to Mr. Aubrey "Hull" will take place next week. The gifts were concealed in a miniature wagon of hay, which was drawn into the room by the hostess' cousin, Lowrie Mobley, Cumberland, dressed as a farmerette. The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of chrysanthemums and roses. The rooms were gay with Michaelmas daisies and chrysanthemums. For the occasion the hall had been decorated with a profusion of flowers, mauve and pink cosmos and yellow marigolds predominating.

Following the supper, which was daintily served by members of the W.A., a series of motion pictures was shown by Rev. At the close of the entertainment, surplus foodstuffs were auctioned by Mr. Bruce.

"Fire not only destroyed young growth, mature timber and seed in the soil, but animals and birds suffered and the ash falling in water affected the fish and also caused streams to dry up," MacKenzie stated.

PUBLIC RESPONSIBILITY
"Greater appropriation will have to be made in the future to carry out the demands laid upon the forestry service, with greater power to enforce regulations. The public must be impressed with a sense of personal responsibility and a wholesome fear of consequences arising from neglect or defiance of orders. It would seem that a more definite policy of education in our public schools would be the best form of insurance for the future," she concluded.

What Today Means

"LIBRA"

If October 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon; from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m. from 6 to 8 p.m. and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

Financial problems may be the principal absorbing topic this day, and there are likely to be many crucial tests of friendships throughout the seeking of financial aid. This is a day when each individual case must be decided upon its merits. Circumstances are likely to require the abandonment of many hard and fixed rules, for many conditions are apt to arise that will need the application of common sense, combined with sympathy and a careful analysis of personal obligations. In decision will be one of the leading causes for confusion in the handling of personal affairs, so it might be advisable to make up your mind one way or the other, rather than to be afraid to reach some definite conclusion. Married and engaged couples and those who are worshipping at Cupid's shrine, must avoid keeping anyone in suspense regarding an answer to any question of primary importance.

If a woman and October 8 is your birthday, frankness and loyalty are probably two of your outstanding characteristics. An optimistic outlook on life will brighten up—only your own—but many other people's lives. Your firmness of character will be evidenced most likely by your ability to practice self-control at all times. In money matters you perhaps will be very fortunate in getting whatever you need to take care of your requirements. As an artist, musician, singer, actress, writer, business manager or sales representative you will in all likelihood, win the admiration and respect of many people. Both you and the man you marry very probably will have many reasons for considering yourselves a very lucky couple.

The child born on October 8 appears to be predestined to be a success. Gifted in many respects, some one outstanding talent is apt to win public recognition. This youngster's perfectly normal behavior during its childhood and youth may give no hint that a brilliant future is perhaps ahead of it. If a man and October 8 is your natal day, if you make it a point to learn your good and bad qualities, and develop the former and suppress the latter, you have every right to have great expectations of being well-represented. As a publicity contact, or newspaper man, artist, lawyer, architect, actor, salesman or author, popularity and affluence may more than compensate you for your hard work.

Monte Pearson and Clay Bryant Given Mound Assignments

Selected by Managers McCarthy and Hartnett to Open Today's Third Game of the World Series in New York Yankees' Stadium—Crosetti Has Swollen Hand—Teams Welcomed

JOE MCCARTHY Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Two up and two down, the jubilant New York Yankees came home today, confident they would be "winners and still champions" when the fourth game of their world series with the Chicago Cubs is over Sunday night. In sharp contrast to the Cubs, whose confidence seems to have run out—just as Dizzy Dean's pitching arm did in the late innings of yesterday's second game—the Yankees feel that their club has shown them its best, that tomorrow's third game and Sunday's fourth will wind up the series.

TO STAND PAT

The managers decided to stand pat on their second game line-up, with exception of the pitchers. Hartnett is calling on Clay Bryant, right-hand fast-ball pitcher, from Ohio, who won nineteen games for the National League pennant winners during the regular season. The Cubs also have decided to keep Joe Marty in the outfield because of his longer hitting, with Phil Cavarretta, who played the first game, remaining on the bench.

Manager Joe McCarthy stood fast on his previously announced selection of Monte Pearson, right-hand curve-baller with a record of sixteen victories and seven setbacks in the American League campaigning, to take the mound for the Yanks. But some slight doubt still existed regarding him.

Pearson, credited by New York Giants with twirling the best game and hurling more "stuff" than any other twirler in the 1937 series, suffered from a sinus condition. He made only one mound appearance from September 17 to the end of the season last Sunday, and there was the chance he might not be ready to go.

In that event, McCarthy will give the assignment to the ex-Georgia footballer, Spud Chandler, whose ailing elbow is reported in condition again.

Another cool day apparently awaited the third game of the classic. The weather bureau's preliminary report was for skies partly overcast, with the thermometer around 60, in contrast to the 33-degree temperature for yesterday's Chicago tilt.

TEAMS WELCOMED

Some 1,000 fans were at the station to greet the teams on their arrival at noon. Both clubs were in good physical condition, although Frank Crosetti, shortstop star of the Yanks and hero of the opening engagements, reported with a swollen glove-hand.

"It's from all those catches and stops," he explained, while rubbing the "on the swelling around the middle fingers."

Probable starting line-ups: Chicago (National League)—Hack, 3b; Herman, 2b; Demaree, rf; Marty, cf; Reynolds, lf; Hartnett, c; Collins, lb; Jurgens, ss; Bryant, p.

New York (American League)—Crosetti, ss; Rolfe, 3b; Henrich, rf; DiMaggio, cf; Gehrig, lb; Dickey, c; Selkirk, lf; Gordon, 2b; Pearson, p.

Umpire—J. S. (N.L.), plate; Hubbard (A.L.), first base; Moran (N.L.), second base; Kolls (A.L.), third base.

Game time, 10:30 a.m., P.S.T.

Yanks Are Quoted At 9 to 1 to Win Baseball Honors

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Betting Commissioner Jack Doyle today made the New York Yankees prohibitive favorites to take the world series over the Chicago Cubs, as a result of their victories in the first two games.

He quoted odds of 9 to 1 against the Cubs and 5 to 1 against the Yankees taking the next two straight. For tomorrow's third game, he quoted 2 to 5 against the Yanks and 17 to 10 against the Cubs.

Winners of City Junior Championship

Victoria City baseball team, which won the city junior championship victories out of twenty attempts, a fine mark to say the least. These boys played smart ball throughout the schedule, and some day in the near future will be starting in senior company. Sponsored by Joe Bloom, better known in football circles, the boys were managed by Tommy Johnston, who pitched and played outfield for Cameron's softball team, winners of the City and Island titles. Back row, left to right: B. Prior, W. Smith, B. McCaghey, Bill Pynn, president of the Junior League. Front row, left to right: B. Atkinson, "Red" Knowles and E. Lea.

EASTERNERS VICTORIOUS ON MAINLAND

Mimico Scores 21-15 Victory Over Richmond-Point Grey Team

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7 (AP)—Mimico's Mountaineers led throughout tonight to trample Vancouver Richmond-Point Grey Juniors 21-15 and take a one-game lead in the best-of-five series for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship.

The victory gave the Eastern titlists a 2-1 edge in games in the battle for the Minto Cup. They dropped Monday's opening contest 18-16 but won the second, Wednesday, 13-11.

For one quarter, tonight the teams battled on the same even terms that marked the previous games, but in the second period the Mountaineers finally solved the Coast defence.

From a 4-3 lead at the end of the initial quarter the husky visitors stormed into a 13-7 advantage at half-time and increased their margin to 18-11 at the three-quarter mark.

They eased up somewhat in the final quarter, but even then a Vancouver rally produced only four goals.

The Easterners mixed up their tactics tonight, combining long accurate sniping with their usual short passing attack that moved them up the floor so fast in the second quarter they swept around a dizzy Coast defence that never did get organized.

Marlo Woods led Mimico's marksmen with five goals and an assist, while Art Noble and Doug Ross shared scoring honors for Vancouver with four goals and a pair of assists each.

Fourth game of the series will be played here Monday night. No date has been set for a fifth game if it is necessary.

Mrs. Mulqueen Wins Sensational Match To Reach the Final

Toronto Golfer Is Three Down at the Twelfth, but Rallies to Gain Victory on Final Green in Canadian Tourney—Opposes Clarrie Tiernan, of Dublin, Today

Two years ago she won the Irish women's championship.

DOWN AT TERN Mrs. Mulqueen was outlucked on several shots in the first hole today and persisted in chipping past the pin. At the turn she was two down and only a hot putter kept her from being down still.

A par four on the tenth put Mrs. Mulqueen in a tight spot. She missed the green with her drive on the 155-yard twelfth for a four against a par three.

Then Mrs. Mulqueen started her stirring comeback. She halved the thirteenth in par fives and on the fourteenth Mrs. Mulqueen smacked her shot right down the fairway and dropped two putts for a five while Mrs. Walker hit a shallow trap and careered six.

A thirty-foot putt for a birdie won the fifteenth and Mrs. Mulqueen squared the match on the sixteenth with par four. The seventeenth was halved. At the 589-yard eighteenth both lashed their drives more than 200 yards and lofted them about the same distance.

Then the Toronto star showed her mettle by chipping two feet from the pin. Mrs. Walker bobbled her fourth to the carpet of the green and missed another chip shot. The hole and match were conceded.

IRISH GIRL WINS

In the other match, Miss Tiernan won the first, fourth, fifth and ninth holes to hold a two-hole advantage at the turn. She carded a birdie on the par-four fifth. Miss Anderson won the seventh with a par four and a birdie three on the eighth gave her another hole.

The Dublin girl shot a sparkling par-three on the eleventh to go three up. But the Scottish golfer came back on the twelfth with another par three to win. The next three were halved, but Miss Tiernan carded a par four on the sixteenth against Miss Anderson's five for the hole and the match, 3 and 2.

EASTERN CHAMPIONS STAGE GREAT RALLY TO WIN BOXLA GAME

Nine-Goal Scoring Spurge in Final Quarter Gives Winners 18-11 Victory Over New Westminster Youngsters in First of Canadian Box Lacrosse Championship Series

TORONTO, Oct. 7 (AP)—St. Catharines Athletics, swiftness and advantage of New Westminster Adanacs—collapsing defence in the fourth quarter, galloped off with an 18-11 victory in the first game of the Mann Cup final here tonight.

The second game of the best of five series for the Dominion senior lacrosse championship will be played Monday.

The Athletics turned loose in the final period the full fury of an attack that swept aside the famed Orilla Terrers in the Ontario Lacrosse Association play-offs. The Eastern Canada titlists scored nine goals in the final fifteen minutes to establish themselves favorites to win the title New Westminster Salmonbellies held last year.

The youthful Western champions started fast and held a one-goal lead, 4-3, after the first quarter. The score was tied, 6-6, at half-time and it still was even, 9-9, at the end of the third quarter, as the Adanacs staved off repeated goaldward thrusts by their powerful opponents.

ADANACS TIRE But the Coast team's fire flickered out after that. They appeared to tire as their heavier opponents' power drive got under way. They had nothing to match St. Catharines' brilliant burst of goal-scoring. Goalie Eddie Johnston stood up manfully under the bombardment but he could do little when his outer defences crumbled.

Nearly all the Athletics' goals were scored from inside the goal crease, the checks being tricked out of position with clever passing and shifty foot work. Punk Morton St. Catharines between them scored sufficient goals to win the game, watched by a crowd of more than 5,000.

Morton scored seven goals, one more than Cheevers. Harry Green, defenceman, and George Urquhart, forward, each scored two St. Catharines tallies. Bill Wilson's single-ten completed the scoring.

Adanacs' attack was sparked by Bob Lee, who scored four times. Ted Bradbury, Bob Phelan, Gern Carter, Jim Douglas, Lloyd Steele, Gord Saunders and Ben Robinson picked off a goal apiece.

University of British Columbia to Meet Dominoes on October 15

SECRETARY Wm. Ritchie, of the Dominoes Basketball Club, announced yesterday that the local squad will meet University of British Columbia cagers in the opening inter-city game of the 1938-39 season on Saturday, October 15, at the Victoria High School gymnasium. Two preliminaries, most likely Victoria and District League games, will fill out the programme, which will probably get under way at 7:30. Varsity has practically the same club as last season, one which made a great bid for the Vancouver League honors during the play-off series. According to reports, the visitors are young and very fast, and have improved vastly since the close of last season. They have been working out in the Point Grey institution gymnasium for the past fortnight. Alex Charters is managing the U.B.C. lads this season. This game will mark the second appearance of the Dominoes, as the club faces the well-balanced Northwestern Crumery, last season's Canadian Scottish intermediates, in the opening league tussle on Wednesday evening at the High School. A large crowd is expected on hand to see the senior teams open their league schedule, and see how the new club stacks up against the Dominoes.

BILLED TODAYCrowd of 73,000 Expected
At Ohio States and Southern California

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP).—The country's major college football teams, plunging into action with no regard for the world series counter-attraction or the threats of their rivals, tomorrow will furnish football fare heavy enough to lure millions of customers to the feast and leave the prognosticators with a severe case of nervous indigestion.

Taking customer reaction as the best barometer, the "big game" of the day is the inter-sectional duel between Ohio State's Big Ten contenders and Southern California. A crowd of 73,000 is expected to jam the double-decked stands at Columbus, where the spectator boiling point is notably low and enthusiasm notably high.

Yet the Big Ten alone offers counter-attractions in four All-Conference games topped by Minnesota's league bow against Purdue. Four of the Big Six eleven are booked for intra-sectional warfare, and the All-Ivy League games, plus Columbia's battle with Army, stand out in the East.
Notre Dame's inter-sectional tilt with Georgia Tech and the meeting of Tennessee and Auburn are tops in the South; pan-concious Baylor and Arkansas lead off the South-west card, and on the Pacific Coast it's Santa Clara against Texas A. and M. Stanford against Washington State, and U.C.L.A. against Washington.

REGINA VICS OUT

REGINA, Oct. 7 (AP).—Regina Vics, one of Canada's oldest senior hockey clubs, has suspended operations for this season. The organization will back Regina Aces this season.

With Vics out of the picture, it is expected the application of Flin Flon Bombers will be cleared up at the senior hockey meeting here, October 15. Sentiment seems to favor entry of the Manitoba team to make a six-team league this season.

More Optimistic Indications Keep Market Healthy

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—The stock market encountered a little rougher going today as traders cashed in profits on the lengthy upswing, but selected issues managed to enter new high territory for the past year with gains running to a point or so.

The list was still under the influence of more optimistic business indications, and selling, which was fairly insistent at times, was well absorbed in most cases.

Rails, aircraft and specialties were in the forefront throughout. Steels were given a run after noon and copper firmed at the last. There was a large turnover of low-priced issues such as Lott and Radio Corp. as relatively substantial advances. Best prices were reduced at the finish.

The fact the market, counting today's result, had climbed in eight out of nine days, tended to boost speculative forces to some extent.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was up 3 of a point at 51.4, a new top since October 9, 1937. Transfers, however, dwindled to 1,464,560 shares compared with 2,451,060 the day before.

Loans of speculative rating continued in high favor with buyers in today's bond market. Prices generally were marked to new high levels for the "peace" recovery which started last week with the calling of the Munich four-power conference.

Foreign loans were mixed though generally steady. Czech 8 1/2 of 31 fell 4 3/8 points on small transactions.

TIME OUT!

By Chet Smith

LIFE'S LIKE THAT - By Fred Neher

"I'll Caddy for You for Nothing, Mrs. Pip, Just for the Laughs."

Jane Dixon Says:

ONCE A MAN'S INTEREST IN A WOMAN WAXES THERE IS REALLY NOTHING YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT

Love is like the tide. It cannot be harnessed. No power on earth has yet been discovered that will stop the tide from coming in or from going out.

"Dear Miss Dixon: I'm eighteen and for nearly twelve months I have been going with a boy a year older.

"He used to come to see me every other night; everyone told me he liked me a lot. I had reason to believe he did, until lately when he stopped calling on me.

"We are together often as we like the same sport and on these occasions he is as attentive as ever, never plays around with another girl. Yet I don't believe he ever would phone me or call on me if we didn't meet casually. He has done a lot of little things noticeable to me alone, which show that he is growing tired of me.

"The other day I went out with another boy, and the one I care for had a fit, not in front of me, but in the presence of some of our friends. What should I do? Go on as though nothing has happened? Give him a date if he asks for it or turn him down? We used to write letters, but his became more and more infrequent, then stopped. He doesn't go with another girl so far as I know. I'm sure I'd hear from some 'cat' if he did, don't you? Should I ask him if he wants to break off or what? He leaves this Autumn for medical school.—Wavering"

Comment: If the young man expects to take up medicine he has a long, hard grind before him, many years of study and apprenticeship. Perhaps he does not want to confine himself to one girl or involve himself in a serious affair.

By all means carry on in a cheerful friendly way. Treat him precisely as you do other boys of your acquaintance. It is your right to make or accept any date you like since the special young man has shown he is not seriously interested in you. There doesn't seem to be anything to "break off." Why attempt it? If he is indeed "tired" of you, then forcing him to acknowledge it or deny a truth will only make him more weary. Putting on a "hard-to-get" act will not bring him back. He will recognize the insincerity of it. Don't act at all. When you meet him be pleasant and natural. Make him admire you even if he does not love you.
